1. These directions are promulgated by the Overseas Community Affairs Council (hereinafter referred to as "OCAC") to support the implementation of the Volunteer Service Act and expand the participation of R.O.C. nationals in overseas compatriot education service, thereby increasing exchange between domestic and overseas compatriots, and passing on traditional culture.
 2. The volunteer service exerciser of the overseas community education volunteers (hereinafter referred to as "volunteers") is the OCAC.
 3. The volunteers referred to in these directions are people who are sincerely willing to assist the OCAC in carrying out designated work with their knowledge, physical ability, labor, experience, skills and time and who are selected by the OCAC, and do not occupy OCAC' s job vacancy, nor receive remuneration.
 4. The services offered by the volunteers include the following:
 - (1) encouraging enthusiastic ROC nationals to take part in overseas community education activities to expand the influence of national culture
 - (2) promoting overseas Chinese language teaching to make use more widespread
 - (3) promoting overseas arts, folk customs, sports and other teaching activities to pass on national culture
 - (4) assisting with overseas compatriot cultural and educational activities to enhance their national cultural identity
 - (5) promoting Chinese language e-learning, and providing online learning resources
 - (6) receiving overseas compatriot education groups from overseas, and increasing exchange between domestic and overseas compatriots
 - (7) assisting with arranging textbooks and promoting Chinese language reading
 5. Volunteers must be dedicated and be enthusiastic about serving, adhere to these directions and have one of the following qualifications:
 - (1) skilled in cultural and education work, or with experience in teaching Chinese language courses
 - (2) interested in promoting traditional culture overseas and willing to be dedicated
 6. The OCAC shall carry out volunteer education and training (including basic and special training) courses to enhance the quality of voluntary service and thus to ensure the rights of service recipients.
 7. The OCAC shall grant volunteer service certificates and service record books to its volunteers, after the volunteers complete the education and training courses noted above.
 8. The OCAC shall periodically evaluate the service performance of individual volunteers, and shall terminate the service of volunteers whose service is considered sub-standard or who are deemed unsuitable.
 9. The OCAC shall list funds in the annual budget for the operations of the overseas compatriot education voluntary service.
 10. The OCAC shall effect accident insurance for volunteers and may provide perquisites and transport, meals and special insurance subsidies where necessary.
